RESCINDED

IS THE CALL FOR PRIMARY

In The Seventh Congress- ional District.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE TO BE SELECTED AT A CONVENTION HELD IN LEXINGTON ON SEPTEMBER 3.

CONVENTIONS AUG. 29.

The special meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee of the Seventh Congressional District, held at Lexington, Thursday, and presided over by Chairman W. A. Lee, of Owen county, rescinded its call for a primary on May 12, made several weeks ago, and the committee adopted a resolution providing for a delegate convention to be held in Lexington on September 3, to select a Democratic candidate for Congress. The delegates to the convention to be named by county conventions to be held on August 29.

Although Campbell Cantrill, of Scott county, who is yet the only announced candidate against Congressman W. P. Kimball for the nomination, issued a proclamation soon after the recent action of the committee, ordering a primary election May 12, in which he complained that the date of the primary was too early and the entrance fee of $2,000 was too high, broadly intimated that the action of the committee was in the interest of Mr. Kimball. F. M. Thomasson, of Scott county, the member of the committee representing Mr. Cantrill, opposed, rescinding the former action of the committee, voted against the proposition calling the convention for September 3, and offered a substitute providing for a primary election on August 8. The committees from Franklin and Oldham counties voted with Mr. Thomasson on these questions.

Chairman W. A. Lee, after calling the meeting to order, made the following statement: "When this committee last met it was thought that there would be no need of a primary, as there would be only one candidate. Since that time Mr. Campbell Cantrill has announced his candidacy, and in a card to the public criticises the action of this committee. He declares that the action of the committee was unfair; that the time is too short, the expense too great, etc. When I saw that card I felt it my duty to call this committee together to consider the matter of selecting a nominee for Congress in this new light. At the time of your former action I thought that the date of May 12 left insufficient time for a canvass, but it was not expected that the incumbent would have opposition."

The roll was then called and showed the following members present: W. A. Lee, Owen, chairman; C. H. Morris, Oldham; John Griffin, Franklin; F. M. Thomasson, Scott; Dr. W. P. Roberts, Fayette; M. Kaufman, city of Lexington; by proxy, J. H. Cunningham, Owen; Ambrose Dudley, Henry; W. O. Davis, Woodford; J. H. Thompson, of Bourbon, was absent.

When it was announced that a quorum was present, Mr. Thomasson opened the proceedings by saying: "Less than a month ago we met and fixed the date for a primary. At that time I stated that Campbell Cantrill would probably be a candidate, and I presented his views. I understood that in letters to other committeemen he had asked that the date be as late as August. By calling the primary May 12 the committee disregarded his wishes. He then declared his candidacy, and has announced that he would abide by the action of the committee. I want to say now that any change in the date will not be at his suggestion or desire. He accepted your action in good faith, pitched his canvass on this understanding and made several speeches. He is not asking for further time."

Mr. Kaufman, in reply to Mr. Thomasson, said: "As has been said by the chairman, no opposition to Mr. Kimball was anticipated. It has been customary to send Ashland district Congressman back for a second term. However, Mr. Cantrill has announced, and, in his letter, criticised this committee as being in a haste."

"Mr. Cantrill is satisfied with the action of the committee, and is not asking for further time."

"He appears to be in a hurry to get on with us. In the light of the complaint I consider it to be our duty to rescind the action we took at the last meeting. Then no one can have a complaint, and we are not in the interest of any man. I submit the following resolution:

"Whereas, The Hon. J. Campbell Cantrill, one of the announced candidates for Congress in this district, objects to having the nomination made on the 12th day of May, and desires that the time of making the nomination for Congress be set for a later date; therefore,

"Resolved, That the resolution adopted by this committee on the 28th day of March last, directing that a primary election of the Democratic voters of the Seventh Congressional District be held on the 12th day of May, 1908, for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for Congress in said district, be and the same are now rescinded and set aside."

When the resolution was read Mr. Thomasson again took the floor in opposition to such an action. He said:

"Mr. Cantrill did criticize the action of the committee, and justly. The people criticized its action, and justly. I got his letter expressing his wishes and he told me he had sent letters to all of you."

"But I want it understood that he is not now asking for a later date. He has accepted your action in good faith. If there are no other candidates, I am opposed to our rescinding our former action. It has been published as May 12, and the people expect it to be held then. If you change now, what assurance will Mr. Cantrill have that in thirty or sixty days you will not make another change?"

Mr. Kaufman replied that he, for one, received no such letter from Mr. Cantrill, and said that Mr. Cantrill had published a card of complaint, criticizing the committee, and had not since stated he was satisfied or corrected the impression that he was entering the contest under protest.

The vote on the resolution resulted as follows: For rescinding former action, Woodford, Owen, Henry, Fayette and the city of Lexington, 5; against, Scott, Oldham and Franklin, 3.

Mr. Griffin, of Franklin, then introduced the following resolution:

"Whereas, The Hon. J. Campbell Cantrill, and others who desire to contest for the nomination, have complained that the entrance fee to the primary election is excessive, and, desiring to give every candidate a fair chance; therefore,

"Resolved, That a delegate convention of the Democratic voters of the Seventh Congressional District of Kentucky be held in the city of Lexington on the 3d day of September, 1908, for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for Representative in Congress for said district, to be voted for at the regular election, November 3, 1908."

"Resolved, That the basis of representation in said convention for the various counties shall be one delegate for every 200 votes cast for the Parker and Davis electors in 1904, and an additional delegate for any fraction of 100 in excess of that number. The delegates to said convention shall be selected by the Democratic voters in mass convention to be held in each county seat at such place as the chairman of the county committee may direct, at 2 o'clock p. m., on the 29th day of August, 1908, and in any county having more than one legislative district only one convention shall be held, which shall be subject to the provisions of these resolutions. All known Democrats who are willing, in good faith, to support the nominee of the convention hereby ordered and all young men who will become of age prior to the 3d day of next November, and who propose to affiliate with the Democratic party, are entitled to participate in the mass-meeting hereinafter provided for."

Mr. Thomasson offered a substitute calling a primary election for the second Saturday in August. He said that he understood there was no objection to a primary election and did not see why a convention should be called. Mr. Kaufman replied that Mr.

COFF WITNESS

RELATIVES FEAR MURRAY HARRIS Has Been Waylaid.

GAVE EVIDENCE THAT CAUSED ARREST OF SEVERAL ALLEGED NIGHT
RIDERS.

SOLDIERS SCOURING COUNTY.

There is great excitement at Murray, Ky., over the sudden disappearance of Murray Harris, the chief witness in the night rider cases being tried at that place. Relatives and friends, as well as the soldiers, are scouring the county in an effort to locate Harris and it is feared that he has met with foul play at the hands of parties implicated in the raids. Harris gave important testimony that led to the arrest of several alleged night riders, and since that time fears have been entertained lest he should be waylaid. It is the opinion of some that he has been kidnapped to prevent him from testifying before the grand jury.

Harris started to Murray, presumably to testify, Wednesday morning. If he reached town nobody here has been found who saw him, but it is believed that Harris never got to Murray. Yesterday friends from his neighborhood were in town inquiring about him, but they left without securing any satisfactory information. They held a conference with County Judge Wells, following which soldiers and deputy sheriffs started out.

Harris is the principal witness in the west side cases. Without his evidence there would be doubt about indictments, although there are two or three other witnesses who may know enough to justify the finding of bills.

Capt. Caudill, dressed as a farmer, left for the county this morning. He refused to discuss why he was so disguised or where he was going. Opinion is that he will do detective work in an attempt to locate Harris.

The witness' wife is frantic. Her theory is that he has been ambushed or kidnapped. He had no reasonable excuse to flee, because two soldiers were standing guard at his home day and night to protect his family and property.

Secrecy is still maintained by the grand jury. It was reported this morning that fifteen indictments have been found and probably the first batch will be returned in open court today.

A prominent lawyer stated that he had learned that some indictments were agreed on, but knew no names. There is rumor of names, but not from an official source. Why the indictments of men in jail or out on bond would be kept from the public is not understood or explained. Since Tuesday morning the grand jury has considered evidence only in the night rider cases. The jury was delayed yesterday by a vacancy owing to the illness of J. G. Wells, whose place was filled late in the afternoon by the selection of Tom Patterson, a well known farmer. The good citizens are highly pleased with his selection.

Walter McCuiston, of the Concord section, was arrested this morning by Constable Stubblefield. He executed bond in the sum of $1,500.

Arthur Wynn, Felix Wynn, Dallas Wynn and Van Elkins have executed bonds. The Wynn boys have given the best bond yet, their sureties being worth $75,000. They mortgaged their farms to secure their bondsman.

Becoming alarmed, Will Winsley one of his sureties, surrendered Joe Bell, the alleged captain of the night riders, yesterday afternoon, and Bell spent the night in jail. His father was on the bond with Tinsley, and is trying to get another qualified bondsman. Tinsley gave his excuse for pulling off of the bond that "the night rider cases were getting too numerous."

Maj. George Albrecht, who arrived from Hopkinsville yesterday afternoon, in company with Lieut. Winfrey, battalion adjutant, refuses to discuss his business. For fifteen years, Maj. Albrecht has been the newspaper business correspondent, and the best in the world to help you out, I can't. This work that we are doing is very important, and it is paramount that we keep the public in the dark as to our movements."

When asked questions he would throw up his hands and smile. Maj. Albrecht will leave Murray probably to-morrow for Paducah, where he has a few soldiers.

Yesterday was pay day with the soldiers, the pay roll being in the neighborhood of $1,200. They are spending their money freely with the merchants. Some of the boys have opened accounts with the Murray banks.

The privates receive $1.50 a day and the officers get the same pay as regular army officers. Besides the State pays their board. The soldiers expect to be here two or three months, so some of them will have snug bank accounts when they leave.

Excitement was stirred up again last night by a wild report that was circulated to the effect that sixty night riders, including the Trigg county band, were marching on the town to burn it, assassinate the court officials and take the prisoners out of jail.

Telephone messages were sent to various parts of the county, but no trace of such a band could be possibly be found.

The soldiers were ready, as they are every night. In case of trouble the soldiers will be re-enforced by the armed guards of the county.

Several witnesses are staying in Murray, their expenses being borne by the county.

LAWMAKERS

TO PLAY DUSTY RHODES.

LARGE CROWD WILL GO TO LOUIS-
VILLE TO WITNESS OPENING GAME.

The Lawmakers, accompanied by a large crowd of local fans, will leave to-morrow morning over the L. and N. Railway for Louisville, where the local team will take a whack at Mr. Vance's best and champions of the Falls Cities, the Oasty Rhodes at Dusty Roads Park Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

The game will be called promptly so as to allow the full nine innings to be played, as the train homeward bound leaves at six o'clock.

The local club has been engaged in heavy practice work nearly every afternoon during the past two weeks, and are in excellent shape.

The line-up is as follows:
Dusty Rhodes — Brown, catcher; Doyle, Hikes or McBride, pitcher; Dwan, shortstop; Lally, first base; Yantz, second base; Hannigan, third base; Hikes, third base; Newman, center field; Vance, right field.

Lawmakers Won.

The Lawmakers and the Shamrocks crossed bats Sunday afternoon at Dudley's, the score resulting 5 to 2 in favor of the Lawmakers. "Little Dick," who pitched for the Shamrocks, did excellent work, and had the Lawmakers at his mercy, but on account of some bad errors behind him was unable to land a victory. Roberts played a nice game at first for the Shamrocks, also Williams and Goins at their respective positions. The Shamrocks did very poor stick work. Burg, the Lawmakers' slabman, was as wild as a "Mountain Goat," and kept the Shamrocks guessing to keep from getting "soaked." "Little" Owen Robb, of the Shamrocks, was there with the willow and is a corner. The Shamrocks will play at Stamping Ground April 23.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

During the week County Clerk N. B. Smith issued the following marriage licenses: Henry P. Mitchell, age 46, and Miss Beulah Shackelford, age 26, both of Flag Fork. Alzer Greenwell, age 60, of Polsgrove Landing, and Miss Blana Gaines, age 50, of Woodford county. Wm. A. Cunn, age 20, of Switzer, and Elizabeth Ellen, age 17, of Woodford county. Benjamin Wright, age 21, and Pearl Parker, age 21, of this city.

ARTHUR GOEBEL

PRESENTS ARGUMENT BEFORE GOVERNOR.

Protests Against Pardon Of Powers and Howard.

COMMONWEALTH'S ATTORNEY
FRANKLIN ALSO URGES EX-ECUTIVE NOT TO PARDON.

NIGHT RIDERS IN HARRISON.

When the hearing of the Powers-Howard cases was resumed in the House of Representatives yesterday morning at 11:30 o'clock Arthur Goebel, brother of the murdered statesman, took the floor and spoke for about thirty minutes. He read from an affidavit given by Frank Gross, in which he said Jim Howard said to him in the Frankfort jail that Arthur Goebel had been making recouits at him all day in the court room, and that if he had him out in the open he would give him what he gave his brother William Goebel. He said Gross had been considered a competent witness for the defense when they endeavored to prove by him that only Yontsey alone was responsible for the assassination, and that he should be considered competent enough to use as a witness to prove that Howard fired the fatal shot. Mr. Goebel also quoted from other testimony to show that both Powers and Howard are guilty. He said that he has assisted the prosecution in these cases for the past eight years, and that he has always kept within the confines of the law in all his acts.

Mr. Goebel was followed by Commonwealth's Attorney Franklin, who first took up the question of denying bail to Powers. He said the granting of bail was discretionary with the Circuit Judge, and quoted from the statutes to sustain his points. In response to a question from the Governor, he said that in his opinion Judge Morris had the power to call a special term of court to try Powers again or to grant him bail. Judge Sims interrupted to say that an act of the last Legislature provides that no special term shall be held while a regular term is being held in any other county in the district.

Mr. Franklin said that before the election in 1899, Powers said in a speech that if they won the offices they would keep them, at the breach of a gun if necessary. That following these words he brought or sent men here to intimidate the State Election Commission. Governor Willson interrupted to say that he was present as an attorney in 1899, when these men came to Frankfort, and that he was instrumental in having them promptly sent home.

At the afternoon sitting, Col. Franklin said there could be no compensation for Arthur Goebel to have an innocent man convicted, that he had listened to Arthur Goebel's suggestions and talks for eight years and he had never heard him propose a corrupt plan or idea to secure a conviction. He then took up the testimony to show that the object of bringing the mountain army was to kill Democrats in the Legislature. He then read John Rickett's testimony, where the witness said he heard the men on the train of the mountain army say: "We will take Goebel's head home on a pole; we will give them h—l," and other such expressions.

Maj. W. C. Owens spoke at some length in the interest of Powers. During the week a number of other speakers of prominence made arguments on both sides of the case.

Alleged Night Riders Captured.
A band of night riders from Robertson county, numbering 100, followed and captured three loads of Bracken county tobacco, three miles east of Cynthiana Friday morning. The tobacco was owned by George Haley, of Milford, and was in charge of Kenny Six. The riders halted the wagons at the junction of the Salem and Oddville pikes, and, after placing their pickets, proceeded to destroy one load, dumping part of it in a small pool of water and scattering the remainder along the road to be trampled by their horses.

The riders did take precaution to cut telephonic wires and the sheriff was called up and notified. He immediately started for the scene with the militia, capturing one man at the scene of the outrage, and three more beyond Clayville. The captured men are:

B. Brown, Gum McGee, Bill Kenton, of Bracken; Charley Fowler, of Robertson.

Judge King remanded the men to jail. Two of the men, Kenton and Fowler, are prosperous looking men, and all the well known and respected citizens of their immediate neighborhood.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

Narrowly Averted Thursday Afternoon
In South's Warehouse—Loss
Will Be About $4,000.

A fire which promised to be one of the most serious Frankfort has suffered in many months was averted Thursday afternoon by the prompt response of the fire department and the effective work of Chief Conway and his men. The fire started in a lot of hemp stored in the basement of the South Warehouse on Broadway street and is supposed to have originated from a spark from a passing engine.

There was a stiff wind blowing during the afternoon, and particularly at the time the fire was discovered, so that if the flames could not have been checked until they reached the second floor, where they could have been fanned by the wind, there is no doubt but that the fire would have crept up the hill to the East Main street residences where there can be no estimate placed on the amount of destruction that would have been done. As it was, however, it is not believed that the full extent of the damage will exceed $4,000 in all.

There were some 40,000 pounds of hemp in the basement which was the property of the Kentucky River Mills, and it is said at least 50 per cent of this hemp can be saved.

There were several hundred barrels of whisky stored in the warehouse, but luckily for those owning property near the fire was under control before it reached that part of the building in which the whisky was stored.

AMONG THE SICK.

Mrs. Nellie Church, who has been quite ill at her home on Shelby street, was yesterday said to be very much improved.

Mrs. Jno. M. Banta, who has been so seriously ill with rheumatism for several weeks at her home at Thorn Hill, was yesterday reported as but slightly improved.

Mrs. William Douglass Roy, of Louisville, who recently underwent a severe operation at St. Joseph's infirmary, is improving slowly, but will be at the infirmary two or three weeks longer.

The condition of Mr. Jno. Will Johnson, who has been seriously ill at his residence on Fourth street, for several weeks past, was yesterday said to be unchanged.

Mr. Jno. Newman, who has been confined to his home in Shelby street for the past four weeks with a severe attack of erysipelas, was yesterday reported as being very much improved.

Mrs. Ella H. Elwanger, who has been at the Norton infirmary in Louisville for the past two weeks, is rapidly improving, and hopes to be able to return to Frankfort at an early date.

Mr. L. H. Finnerl, who for the past two weeks has been at the Norton infirmary in Louisville, was yesterday reported as being much improved and expects to be able to return home one day next week.

The condition of Mrs. Jno. B. Dryden, who has been so critically ill during the week at her home on East Main street, remains unchanged, and but little hopes are entertained for her recovery.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. G. Crabbe, who has been quite ill for several weeks, was yesterday said to be very much improved and hopes to be able to be at his office next week.

SCIENCE

EMPLOYED IN FARMING.

Lowell Roubush Conducts a Private Experiment Station.INTERESTING ARTICLE ON THE METHODS PURSUED BY A KENTUCKY LECTURER.

GETS MAXIMUM YIELD.

Mr. Homer W. Jackson writes interestingly in the National Stockman and Farmer of the method of farming pursued by Lowell Roubush, of Clermont county, Ohio.

Mr. Roubush has been a regular lecturer of the Kentucky State Department of Agriculture for the past two years, and he is one of the most popular lecturers ever employed by that department. The article will be especially interesting to those who have heard Mr. Roubush lecture. The article is as follows:

A Private Experiment Station.

The farm of Lowell Roubush (Clermont county, Ohio), though neat and showing evidence of careful farming, would probably disappoint a good many for the reason that everything is done on a comparatively small scale. No one, however, who understands the work being done here, will criticize that.

This is a private experiment station. The whole farm is devoted to experimenting. From strawberries to forest trees and from alfalfa to cows everything has some experimental value, and it ought not to surprise or disappoint any one to find that most of the operations are conducted on a small scale. It could not be otherwise, where help is as hard to get as it is here, and where there is such a multiplicity of details requiring the attention and the work of Mr. Roubush himself. To one who has had a small part in private experimental work, it is amazing to see the variety of subjects that Mr. Roubush is interested in and his success in making most of his experimental work profitable.

I know no better way to describe this farm than to take the reader over it as I went over it last fall, discussing the experimental crops as we came to them. The farm consists of 98 acres about five miles from the Ohio river. It is rather hilly, glaciated limestone soil, naturally fertile, but in common with all the land in this section had been farmed a long time, and was badly exhausted when Mr. Roubush took charge of it.

16,000 Quarts of Strawberries Per Acre

Along the road is the strawberry patch; only one-twenty-eighth of an acre but yielding an income of from 60 to $70 each year. He thinks he can produce berries at the rate of 16,000 quarts to the acre, and, in fact, is coming very close to it now. I asked him why he did not have a larger acreage, since he got such extraordinary results, and he mentioned lack of help. Back of that is the better reason, however, that if he grew more berries, he would have to do less experimenting along other lines, and that is not to be thought of. His cultural methods do not greatly differ from general practice and his success seems to be due to peculiar fitness of soil and climate, and experience in selecting the best varieties. He plants in rows four feet apart and two feet (more or less, as to variety) in the row; lets each plant set eight runners at once and then keeps all others down. He prefers Bubach Haverland and Enhance. Cultivates often, applies commercial fertilizer during the summer and sprays with Bordeaux just before growing stops in the fall, and in the spring before blossoms open. Mulches with straw and leaves.

Next to the strawberries are the raspberries and blackberries in small plots, but giving wonderful yields. Then we crossed into the apple orchard. I presume there is less than an acre here and some of the trees were destroyed a couple of years ago by a wind storm. The hogs, of which he raises a few each year, are allowed to run in the orchard part of the time, and the trees are boxed round to prevent being rubbed. They are manured every year with coarse manure, and regularly sprayed. As a result, these trees have averaged $7 to $8 worth of fruit apiece annually for several years, and as they are planted 30x30 that is at the rate of $300 or better an acre. His apple crop last year was small, but he had some beautiful specimens and he supplied part of the Ohio apple exhibit at Jamestown.

Alfalfa.

From there we went to the alfalfa field, which looks about as sick as most other old seedings that I saw last season. Mr. Roubush is a pioneer with alfalfa, and claims to have been experimenting with it before Allen O. Myers ever heard of it. Last season's unfavorable weather killed it out on all the high ground, but down in the draw where the ground is rich and moist there is a fringe still standing.

Wheat Tests.

He is making a ten-year experimental test with wheat seedlings for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the object being to test times of seeding. Beginning with August 30, seven seedlings are made, ten days apart. He has already carried this test for these tests. The seeding of August visit, but the fly was in it. Fultz wheat is used here, seven pecks to the acre, with 200 pounds of complete fertilizer.

From 6 Bushels of Corn per Acre to 45 in Four Years.

Then we went through the cornfield, where four years ago the yield was 6 bushels per acre. With rye to supply humus, and light dressings of stable manure, reinforced with 300 pounds of complete fertilizer, 2:10:2 goods, applied broadcast, and with thorough tillage, he had a crop of 45 bushels per acre last season. The other side of the field, originally no better, but longer in process of building up, yielded 97 bushels per acre last season. Mr. Roubush is a persistent user of commercial fertilizer, but would not have it in his corn fields as a gift if he had to apply it in the row.

He has twenty acres of timber and is trying to apply scientific methods to its management, but the windstorm already referred to wrought havoc here, and it will be some time before he gets the improved part of his timber lot back to where it was before the storm. The same thing has hindered his carrying out the plan as begun over the entire twenty acres.

Two and a Half Tons of Hay to Acre.

Coming back by way of the old barn where his tools are stored, and past a hedge fence that he is killing out experimentally, we came to a meadow seeded to timothy September, 1906, and to alsike clover last spring, where the timothy did not catch. From this he cut timothy and alsike hay both at the rate of two and a half tons per acre. Such a yield of alsike five months from date of seeding is remarkable, but last year was a remarkable one for all clovers of that season's seeding.

Nothing special was done to secure this yield, except the application of 200 pounds of fertilizer to the acre. Clover does not do well here and that is an important disadvantage. Rye is used as a cover crop and Mr. Roubush considers it an agricultural crime to leave a foot of ground bare. In the same field with the timothy and alsike was a plot covered heavily with straw, that was to be left so covered till spring to test the value of mulching to conserve and increase fertility.

The Cows.

Four cows are kept on this farm, and provide an important part of the income. An average of about 300 pounds of butter from each cow, or 1,200 pounds a year, is the record for this branch of farming. I suppose he revels in experimental feeding with these cows, but he did not mention it. I doubt if the readers of the Stockman can form any adequate idea of the labor involved in such experimental farming or its practical value—and I have only described the more important work. That Mr. Roubush and his wife and son are able to do practically all the work and do it so successfully is surprising. It is small wonder that there are no very large fields.

There is no room to doubt that a good deal more money could be made here if a few of the more successful lines were pushed more extensively, but Mr. Roubush's interests are too varied, and his passion for experimenting too keen to permit him to settle down to just making money. In addition to all this work and his extensive engagements as an institute lecturer and writer for farm papers, he has managed to find time to do an immense amount of reading; is known among his brothers on the force as the "Encyclopedia" and is remarkably familiar with a large library, that is about as varied as his farming.

HENRY W. JACKSON.

Elsewhere in this issue we wish to call the attention of farmers and stock raisers to the advertisement of the John R. Sower Hardware Company, who have just received a car load of the celebrated Pittsburgh Electric Wharfedale fencing, in all sizes and styles, which they invite the public to inspect.

THE WELD THAT HELD

You will find electrically welded hoops on ice cream freezers and washing machines, on many tubs and buckets. Examine them. "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences are made by this modern, simple and marvelous process, producing "THE WELD THAT HELD."

MR. FARMER: LISTEN, NOW. Every agent handling "PITTSBURGH PERFECT" fences is authorized to guarantee this:

- That the wires are not injured at the joints.
- That the fence is perfectly adjustable to uneven ground.
- That the stays will not separate from the strands.
- That the fence is all right in every particular.

Could you ask any more definite protection? Your complete satisfaction is absolutely assured.

Science has developed something infinitely better than the old-style wrap or clamp.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES ARE WELDED BY ELECTRICITY.

is the modern method of construction. Years of life are through the elimination of serious fence defects.

Don't allow the rapidly-declining and now antiquated methods you have heretofore known to lead you to a poor judgment.

"PITTSBURGH PERFECT" FENCES REPRESENT PROGRESS, because hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of standard material is daily welded by electricity.

The hoop on the average sugar barrel in the isolated country grocery store is an electrically welded product.

If your wagon was made in a large factory, its tires were welded by electricity.

EXPENSIVE

IS A GIRL'S TRAINING.

IT COSTS $200,000 TO REAR SOCIETY GIRLS OF TO-DAY.

The most pronounced type of the modern American beauty is trained from babyhood to fulfill her destiny. She is born with a gold spoon in her mouth instead of the traditional silver one.

The father of one of these millionaire princesses was asked a few days after her advent how much he had estimated it would cost him to bring her up.

"About two hundred thousand," was his answer, "until she is ready to come out, and" he added thoughtfully, "that is really a conservative estimate."

Two hundred thousand for an American beauty! When it is remembered that to finish her at a select school and then give her a year or so of travel with tutor and chaperon costs some sixty thousand, the statement does not seem exaggerated, says the May Delineator. But two hundred thousand! It could endow a whole orphan's home or a juvenile court school to make good citizens out of material that might else turn into criminals; and against this in the scale is put one little rose-and-pearl baby girl. Two hundred thousand! She ought to be the rose of the world.

But even two hundred thousand dollars would not make an American beauty if the spending of it were not scientifically planned. To this end an entire household is retained. The baby has a German nurse, not a French woman because the French are excitable, and there must be nothing to hurt Miss Beauty's nerves and destroy the repose which is to be her distinguishing characteristic of these days. The German nurse's accent is as good as her temperament is even. Later on there is a French governess, an English governess and an Italian dancing master. And always there is a trained nurse to test the temperature of Miss Beauty and of her baths, to watch her food and plan her exercise.

LETTER.

From Salvation Army Who Are About to Enter Upon Week of Prayer, and Self-Denial.

The local branch of the Salvation Army, in charge of Envoy Baker Gallihar, has issued the following letter to the public:

Dear Friend: Again it falls to my lot to thank you for your kind and generous assistance rendered in one way or another to our work and workers during the past year.

We are now upon the eve of our annual week of prayer and self-denial, from April 19 to 26, which I am most anxious should be a means of definite, rich blessing as never before. Our need is greater than ever. Doors are constantly opening before us. We cannot close our eyes to them. The wall of the poor and distressed is ever ringing in our ears. We earnestly plead your kind co-operation and help. Will you give it?

Self-denial week all over the world has been a means of bringing salvation to thousands who otherwise would have died in darkness. Knowing your sympathy with our good work, I venture to ask, "would you help us in this effort?" Do all you can, and the Lord will surely reward you. HEAVY VEILS

An Accessory Which Should Be Most Carefully Chosen.

Veils are topics of never ceasing interest.

It is bad news to the brunette—who has, perforce, to choose her veil with even more care and consideration than she bestows on her hat, and who has discovered that her best chance lies in the selection of a very light open mesh somewhat sparsely spotted—to learn that fashion in Paris is all on the side of heavy black veils fashioned of course in silk net, with a rather rough web, which supplies a notable contrast to the wide-meshed silk net of cobwebby fiber with which the smartest of her hats or the most up-to-date of her evening dresses are trimmed.

These heavy nets give a somewhat funereal appearance to a dark woman, and unless thrown back from the face, they are more than a little apt to give the effect of an unbecoming black frame around the forehead and hair, while in their arrangement over the face care should be taken that the veil lies perfectly smooth without a series of thick wrinkles or creases in the net on either side.

For Tandy Martin of Knott County Who Governor Says Was Justified in Defending His Home.

Gov. Willson late Wednesday evening pardoned Tandy Martin, of Knott county, who was given a ten-year sentence for killing Jno. J. Ambury. State Senator Hilliard H. Smith was greatly interested in the case and presented all the facts to the Governor in such a manner that the Governor was convinced it was proper to issue the pardon. The Governor's reasons for pardoning are as follows:

The case presents strong considerations for the interposition and indulgence of the Executive in that the killing for which the said Tandy Martin was convicted appears to have been done in defense of his home and family from an attack made on his home in the night time by a crowd of armed men.

This pardon is recommended by Justice J. P. Hobson, who wrote the opinion in the case, and his recommendation for a pardon was concurred in by Justices T. J. Nunn, Henry S. Barker, W. E. Settle and Chief Justice Edward C. O'Rear, of the Court of Appeals. The pardon was also recommended by Attorney General Hays and his assistant, Mr. Morris, who prosecuted the case in the Court of Appeals, and by hundreds of citizens.

PASSOVER BEGINS.

Commemoration of Deliverance of the Jews from Egypt is by Feast of Unleavened Bread.

The Jewish Feast of Passover began at sundown Wednesday and continues through the week. The holiday week is a period of festivity and rejoicing and unleavened bread in commemoration of the deliverance of the Jews from Egypt and the slaying of the first-born of the Egyptians, while the angel of death "passed over" the houses of the Israelites in this respect.

Wednesday night there was feasting in each Jewish house, while between courses was read and sung the narrative of the exodus of the Jews from Egypt and songs of praise for the deliverance of the Jews and the discomfiture of the people of Pharaoh. Each table was covered with articles of food symbolic of various events in the Bible story—bitter herbs for the yoke under the Egyptians, and unleavened bread or matzo to remind of the sun-baked bread of the fleeing Israelites.

LOCKETT.

Appointed First Assistant Attorney General at $3500 a Year.

Attorney General Breathitt announced Monday that he had appointed Judge John F. Lockett, of Henderson, as First Assistant Attorney General, an office created by the recent Legislature. It pays $3,500 a year. It is understood the Attorney General determined upon this appointment some weeks ago, but kept it quiet till Monday, as it was doubtful whether Judge Lockett would give up his practice to accept the office.

Judge Lockett was the contending candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals against Judge Bennett a number of years ago in the Democratic Convention, but in 1896 the sound money campaign took him over to the other political party, where he has remained, but never asked for office. Lawyers here are congratulating Judge Breathitt over the excellence of the appointment.

To spend one's spare moments in studying how to make one's advertising more effective is a more profitable occupation than grumbling about the dullness of trade or the scarcity of money.

RAID

PLANNED ON MURRAY

BY NIGHT RIDERS OF CALLOWAY, ASSISTED BY TRIGG COUN-TY BAND.

An affidavit has been taken by Judge Wells, of Calloway county, which divulges a sensational fact that a raid was planned on Murray for the fourth Monday night in March. In this raid there would have been 300 or 400 night riders. Arrangements had been made for the notorious Trigg county band to assist in the raid. The big Regie warehouse, containing thousands of dollars' worth of tobacco, was to be burned.

The local night riders got word that twenty-five guards were on duty at the Regie plant, and also that Judge Wells was prepared for an attack. They decided not to make the raid and called it off.

Clay Garland was dispatched to Trigg county to inform the leader of the night riders not to come and to explain why. This was on the morning of the day for the raid. On horseback Garland raced over the hills and through valleys, crossing one river and got the news to the leader that afternoon.

He was angered and threatened to go anyhow. When the leader informed some of his hand they also were angered.

Garland explained there would be a conflict, as the guards at Murray were determined, so the raid was not carried out. Plans for the proposed raid were made in an old field near Jake Kimbro's farm, in the eastern section of the county. The affidavit names many men who were to have participated in the attack, but their names are withheld.

The affiant who made the affidavit regarding the proposed raid on Murray is not made known for the reason that he would be in danger. The substance of the affidavit, which is a confession, is:

"I am a member of the band known as night riders, and have been for more than a month. I took the oath on the Widow Gage place. Josh Cunningham approached me on the subject of joining the association. He said they were going to make everybody join; that it was necessary to keep the association from busting. He said that there were good people the head men in it, and that I had kinfolk and friends in it, also lawyers, doctors and preachers. We then went to a farmer's house and I was asked if I wanted to join the association, and if I did to get down on my right knee.

The Oath.

"He read over the obligation to me and told me to repeat after him. Part of it was as follows:

"I, _____, in the presence of Almighty God and these witnesses do solemnly promise and swear to become a member of this order. I, _____, do solemnly promise and swear that I will obey all orders which may be given me, and I will go at any time that they may call upon me unless I or my family is sick, and if I should betray this order in any way I shall have to submit to the penalty which may be put on me, which is death. To all of this I solemnly promise and swear, so help me God."

The affiant says he was then given the signs and passwords. The test sign was both hands to the collar of the throat; the answer, right hand to side of head.

The former means rope round your neck if you tell it. The later, "your head, if you tell it."

He said one long whistle to fall back, two whistles to advance, three whistles distress. If a man gets cut off, sound three whistles and they would come to the rescue.

After reciting the places where the meetings were held and minor events that transpired the affiant reaches the promised Murray raid, the substance of which is chronicled elsewhere.

He stated that Joe Bell was the captain of the night riders and was in close touch with the Trigg county band. He said after it was learned that Judge Wells has at least seventy-five men at his command that the night riders decided not to come, declaring they had no men to lose. Several night riders, including the affiant, donated twenty-five cents each to defray the expenses of Clay Garland to go to Trigg county and stop that hand from coming.

He said that Joe Bell told him that the Trigg county night riders had promised 400 men and a wagon load of ammunition.

We will print, plan and execute any kind of an advertising plan you may have in view. All you will have to do is to tell us what you desire to sell. We will do the rest.

NEW LAWS

For New Crimes Some Unusual Legislation Prevalent in Various States.

If Draco and Solon, the old-time lawmakers, should revisit the earth, a tour of investigation in these United States would make it speedily clear to them, says Harper's Weekly, that we moderns, as well as the ancients, busy ourselves pretty much all the time with the framing of new laws.

"I am fined for failing to provide good drinking water for my passenger trains," says the Railway Commissioner of South Carolina.

"In this State a man who neglects to provide a bath for every two inmates of a prison is liable to imprisonment for every two months."

A man in Virginia is liable to a partridge on the spot for shooting a partridge on the spot in February, for which he is liable to imprisonment in jail."

In Tennessee a man must pay a fine or serve three years' imprisonment for killing fish with dynamite.

In Wisconsin a haker must serve three weeks in jail for sleeping in his hakey.

In California nurses are punished by fine or imprisonment should they fall, in the proper instance, to notify the physician of certain phases of illness in their patients.

To water a bicycle path in the State of Ohio is an offense punishable by heavy fine and sometimes by imprisonment.

In most of the States it is a penal offense to tap a telegraph wire or to sell kerosene that is not up to the fire test.

If the old law-givers were to extend their tour of investigation they might learn of men fined or imprisoned for dropping advertising matter in letter chutes; for gambling by means of slot machines, and for countless other offenses the very means for committing which were unknown 100 years ago.

POLITICS

WARMING UP IN SHELBY.

FIGHT ON AMONG REPUBLICANS
OVER THE SELECTION OF DELEGATES.

The political pot has begun to boil in Shelby county, and there is considerable commotion among Republicans and Democrats. There is a warm fight on among the Republicans of that county and the 8th district over the selection of delegates to the National Republican convention at Chicago. The Fairbanks and Taft men are particularly active, but the latter seem to have a shade the better of the contest. Waller Bennett, of Madison county, candidate for delegate, has been in Shelby county several days fixing his fences.

A Marshall Club, with branches in every precinct, has been organized to boom the candidacy of Judge Charles G. Marshall, of Shelbyville, for Circuit Judge of the Twelfth judicial district. The Democratic primary election in the six counties of the district will be held on June 20. Judge Marshall is opposed by Judge James S. Morris, of Oldham county.

The Shelby County Democratic Committee has ordered a primary election to be held on June 20 to nominate a candidate for County Clerk, to succeed the late Ernest Tyler. Luther Black, who was deputy under Tyler, and appointed by County Judge Davis to succeed him, is the only announced candidate.

APPELLATE COURT

Reverses Judgment Against L. & N
Railway for Mrs. Gilmore's death.

In an opinion by Commissioner Clay the judgment of the Jefferson Common Pleas Court; Third division, in the case of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co. against Julia Gilmore's administrator, was reversed by the Court of Appeals. The judgment was for $5,000 damages for the death of Julia Gilmore, who was struck by a freight train and killed while crossing the railroad tracks near Frankfort avenue. The court here says the accident was not due to negligence of the railroad company, and the case is remanded with instructions to dismiss.

The Court of Appeals, Judge Carroll writing, today reversed the judgment of the Jefferson Common Pleas Court, Second division, in the case of the Louisville Veneer Mills Company vs. William Clements. Appellee obtained damages for injuries received from a ripsaw in appellant's mill. The reversal is on instructions.

April 6th was the 93rd birthday of Mrs. Sally Ann Glass, who is enjoying remarkably good health, her age considered, and a better woman it would be hard to find. The occasion was celebrated by the gathering of her children, grand-children and great grand-children.

Wm. Adams, son of Mr. J. B. Adams who has had employment at Chicago for some months, has been appointed under civil service rule electrician on one of the U. S. battleships and is now in San Francisco, Cal., ready to be assigned when the fleet reaches there. Billy is a "hustler," and will have a fine opportunity to see the world, as his appointment is for from three to five years.

Died, near Turkeyfoot, April 9, of cancer, Mrs. Lou F. Riley, nee Miss McCoy, aged 52 years. Deceased lived in this community from her girlhood. She was united with the Stamping Ground Baptist Church when 15 years of age, and had lived a consistent member to her death. In 1880 she was married to Thos. Riley, who died about 15 years ago. She leaves three sons and one daughter. Funeral services conducted by Eld. Hill, at Turkeyfoot, Saturday. Interment at Georgetown Cemetery.

Died, April 7th, at her residence on the White Sulphur pike, of blood poison, Mrs. Beuna Wright, wife of C. G. Wright, aged 61 years. Deceased was a good woman in every sense the word implies; a kind neighbor and friend, a faithful wife and sincere Christian. Funeral service was conducted by Eld. Hill, at the Baptist Church Wednesday morning, and the interment followed in Masonic cemetery. Pallbearers, Will Devers, Marvin Green, Ed. ance, Smith Lucas, Blackburn Stone, Jno. Heath.

The heavy rains put all streams out of their banks, causing a considerable loss and damage to fences, water gads, bridges and the washing of land. Every farm through which ran a stream was more or less damaged. Elkhorn, at Oldham's Mill, was higher than for twenty-three years, and for a time it was feared the new iron bridge at that point would go. A Georgetown teamster loaded a stack of hay on the Askew farm and before getting to the pike his team stalled. He left his wagon for the night. The next morning the wagon and load had been swept away. A loss and damage is reported from the Kissinger lead mines from the high stage of Elkhorn, and turnpike travel from Switzer to Frankfort was cut off.

TERMS, $1.00 IN ADVANCE

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce J. Campbell Cantrill, of Scott county, a candidate for Congress from the 7th Congressional District, subject to the action of the Democratic primary, May 12, 1908.

And this from Bloody Breathitt: "Whereas, a state of anarchy, lawlessness and a reign of terror exists throughout the central and western sections of our State, known as the tobacco belt; and,

"Whereas, such a state of lawlessness can only be productive of general disaster to all sections of the State; and,

"Whereas, people from other States being afraid to pass through the lawless Bluegrass and Black Patch, are kept from Breathitt and other law-abiding mountain counties, thereby hindering us in the development of our natural resources; and,

"Whereas, we, the citizens of Breathitt county, deeply deplore the fact that the people of the tobacco districts have brought disgrace and reproach upon the fair name of our beloved State, and, although we have been deeply maligned in days past, we desire to go upon record as deploring and condemning the state of lawlessness existing in the Bluegrass and the Black Patch; therefore, be it

"Resolved, first, That we tender to the people of the tobacco district our deepest sympathy and condemn the lawlessness of those responsible for it, and that we will co-operate with them in any lawful way to restore law and order and the fair name of our beloved Kentucky.

"Second, That these resolutions be published in the Jackson Democrat and the Breathitt County News, and that all Kentucky papers be requested to copy."

All of which suggests sackcloth and ashes.

Speculation as to whether Governor Willson will or will not pardon Caleb Powers and Jim Howard is rife in every section of the State. For several days the attorneys for both sides have been presenting arguments to the Governor in an endeavor to show him why he should or should not issue the pardons. A prominent Republican member of the Legislature, who is a close friend of the Governor, said the other day that he believes Governor Willson will issue pardons to both Powers and Howard as soon as the hearing is concluded. Like many others who venture such opinions, he did not give any reason for his belief, except that the Governor and prisoners are members of the same political party, and the general statement that the trials have been unfair. We do not believe that Governor Willson will take such a narrow view of the matter. A Republican State ticket has just been elected, and the Governor is in a position to see that Powers is given a trial in accordance with his ideas of fairness. He would at least have the same pardoning power in the event the trial was, according to his ideas, unfair.

The Somerset Times is working itself up into a frenzy for fear someone will start an anti-Bryan sentiment in the State and without any information to back up the charge the editor calls the Jefferson day banquet in Louisville a "Vreeland Scheme."

We would like to ask our pin-headed friend, at whose instance Bryan came to Kentucky on his return from Europe, when Democrats from every district in the State went to Louisville to welcome him home? But perhaps the editor does not remember that far back, in which event the telegram from Mr. Bryan accepting the invitation may be necessary to refresh his memory.

The farmers' institute season will soon begin and it behooves the farmers of the State to take advantage of these meetings. Now is the time for Kentucky farmers to learn how the farmers of other States make a living without raising tobacco.

ADVANCED VAUDEVILLE

WILL BE INAUGURATED IN FRANKFORT ON MONDAY,
APRIL 20TH.

An Unusually Strong Bill Has Been Secured For Opening
Week.

Local theatre-goers, who have been clamoring for high class vaudeville, the same that has been accorded the people of all the large cities of the South and West, will be given an opportunity, commencing Monday next, April 20th, to see the cream of the latest furnished by the National Managers' Association of America, when the season of advanced vaudeville will be opened at the Capitol Theatre.

A close study of the vaudeville situation for the past two years has enabled Manager McNamara to book some of the best acts for opening week that is now playing this circuit, which comprises 150 of the leading vaudeville theatres of the South and also of the West, and it seems almost inconceivable how a show representing five big acts, including animated life, motion pictures and operatic illustrated songs can be given for the insignificant sum of ten cents, but such is a fact and every person who goes to the Capitol Theatre next week will be most agreeably surprised at the splendid show, lasting one hour, that they will witness.

Judging from the unusual interest that has been aroused, the capacity of the Capitol Theatre will be taxed next week in order to accommodate the crowd.

In order to give those who do not desire to get in the rush an opportunity to secure their seats in advance, a limited number of choice seats will be placed on sale one day in advance that can be secured upon payment of an additional five cents.

The advance sale for both Monday night performances go on sale at the theatre box office this morning at 9 o'clock.

There will be three performances daily—afternoon, 3 p. m.; evening, 7:30 and 8:45. Doors open half an hour prior to every performance.

On Saturday there will be two matinees—2:30 and 4:00 p. m.—and three performances at night—7:30, 8:45 and 10:00 p. m. Admission ten cents.

Galleries will be opened for colored people only. Follow the crowd Monday evening and witness the opening of the advanced vaudeville season in Frankfort.

Capt. Gamett D. Ripley, of Oldham county, has rented the new cottage of Mr. Henry Ringold, on East Main street, and has moved his family in to it.

RESCINDED.

Cantrill had complained of the expense of the primary and that from his experience he was confident the expense would be fully $4,000. Therefore, to meet Mr. Cantrill's complaint he was in favor of a convention which is inexpensive. Mr. Thomasson said that he thought a primary would not cost over $2,500, but Mr. Kaufman believed the cost would be about $4,300.

The substitute was then defeated by a vote of 5 to 3. Scott, Oldham and Franklin voting for it. Mr. Thomasson then made a motion providing for primary conventions in each legislative district. Mr. Kaufman said that Fayette was the only county having more than one such district, and that he would be satisfied with one convention. Mr. Thomasson insisted that his motion be adopted "in the interest of fairness," but it was defeated by the same vote of 5 to 3.

Mr. Thomasson then offered an amendment excluding independents from participating in the conventions.

Mr. Kaufman—I have no real objections to this, but should like to know Mr. Thomasson's reasons. It has seemed to be the popular wish that we restore harmony as early as possible and my judgment is that the earlier opportunity for the discontents to come back the better.

Mr. Thomasson—My reasons are that every party must have discipline. We must have a limit. If we open the door to independents we had as well invite the Republicans.

Mr. Kaufman—I have no objection, but it seems a strange procedure.

Mr. Thomasson—it will be more satisfactory to the workers out in the trenches.

By agreement the clause, "all known Democrats who are willing, in good faith, to support the nominee," was amended to read, "all known Democrats," and the resolution was then adopted by a unanimous vote.

Chairman Lee, appointed Messrs Kaufman, Thomasson and Griffin a committee on arrangements and the meeting then adjourned.

Louisville

Live Stock Market

Cattle—The receipts of cattle Friday were 118 head, for the four days this week 1,939. There was about the usual attendance of buyers at the yards yesterday, principally from graders and butchers; the market was not really no market, but a ready outlet at fair prices, there having been a scarcity of that class all through the week. Nothing much doing in the feeder and stocker department; not many here and not a great many wanted, yet prices on all grades remained steady. Bulls were steady; canners and cutters unchanged. Good inquiry for good milch cows slow sale; no heavy shipping cattle on sale; the feeling about steady. The pens were well cleared yesterday evening and the market closed very steady.

Calves—Receipts of calves 94, for the four days this week 461. Owing to the light receipts the market ruled firm; bulk of the best 6@61-2c; some fancy a shade better; common and medium calves continue slow sale.

Hogs—Receipts of hogs 2,299, for the four days this week 9,574. The market was slow in opening this morning and values were mostly lower; selected 160 lbs. up selling at $5.90; 120 to 160 lbs. $5.50; heavy pigs $4.90; light pigs $3.50@4; rough $5.10 down. The market closed slow and weak and an entire clearance could not be made. Light weights and pigs continue extremely dull and we would advise shippers to hold back that class of hogs until there is some improvement in the market.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts of sheep and lambs 166, for the four days 1,233. The market was very slow today from the start to the finish on all grades of sheep and lambs; the best fat sheep selling around 51-4c; common and trashy sheep hard to sell at any price. The trade on fat lambs is extremely dull and as yet there is a very limited demand for spring lambs. The local buyers are only wanting a limited number of sheep and lambs and both Eastern buyers and speculators are very reticent.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

In a recent letter from Washington, Katherine Sherley Todd has the following notes which will prove of interest to many friends in this section of the State:

Col. Jack Chinn, of Harrodsburg, Ky., is visiting Washington, renewing old acquaintances, telling old and new stories, enjoying the Benning races, and had his picture taken for one of the local Sunday papers.

Miss Katherine Bonnie, a pupil at National Park Seminary, Forest Glen, Md., is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Bonnie, in Louisville.

Mr. Luther C. Willis, of Shelbyville, Ky., accompanied by his handsome daughter, Miss Josephine, who is attending school at Staunton, Va., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. George L. Willis, of Shelbyville and Washington, at their home on North Capital street.

Mrs. McCreary, wife of Senator J. B. McCreary, who has been ill at Johns Hopkins in Baltimore all winter, has joined the Senator at the Ebbitt House. Mrs. McCreary is one of the most popular hostesses in Washington, and society is glad to welcome her return to the city, and congratulates her on her restoration to health.

A number of graduates and former students of the State College of Kentucky now residing in Washington, are desirous of forming a local branch of the State College Alumni Association. An attempt to effect such an organization will be made the middle of this month. Messrs. P. M. Ruffin, C. C. Calhoun, H. L. Amoss and R. M. Allen are the committee on organization, and invitations have been sent to all persons who were students of the State College to become "jiners" for pleasure, and it is believed a great deal of good could be accomplished by such a society.

Mr. Clifford K. Berryman, who hails from the "Forks of the Elkhorn," and is easily the cleverest cartoonist in Washington, and so widely known as the originator of the ubiquitous "Teddy Bear," was receiving the well wishes of his many friends last Thursday on the anniversary of his 39th birthday. He came to Washington to accept the position of Chief of the Patent Office, and is expected to remain in the city until the end of the month. Mr. Berryman is the cartoonist of the Evening Star, of Washington.

Mrs. Leighton Van B. Marschalk and Mrs. Charles C. Wilson, of Greenup, Ky., and Washington, entertained most delightfully at their home on B street, in honor of Mrs. Thomas H. Paynter, wife of Senator Paynter, of Kentucky. The house was most artistically decorated with cut flowers, ferns and palms. The tea table was presided over by Miss Louise Ackerman, who looked dainty and sweet in pale yellow crepe de chine. Mrs. Marschalk wore an exquisite gown of gray silk trimmed in white lace. Mrs. Wilson looked handsome in black net with garnitures of pink. Mrs. Paynter wore a graceful costume of purple cloth, with a becoming hat to match. Among the guests were: Mrs. Paynter, Miss Abby Taylor, of Louisville; Mrs. W. A. Marschalk, Mrs. H. C. Easterday, Mrs. W. A. Johnston, Mrs. Winslow Lewis, Mrs. S. S. Bell, Mrs. J. A. The Triple Expansion Ledger.

"BEST ON EARTH."

BECAUSE of the following features of merit, the sales of the Triple Expansion Ledger are increasing rapidly, and our agents are unanimous in saying it deserves the name "Best on Earth."

It has an expansion of nearly 200 per cent. You know the value of this feature, the ease in inserting sheets, and the great increase in capacity for additional accounts, as the business demands.

It is the lightest ledger made to-day; weighing less than half as much as aluminum back ledgers. You know that excess weight is unnecessary, and that bookkeepers do not like to handle a ledger weighing four or five pounds.

It has no exposed metal parts to mar the desk, a feature appreciated by all users.

It has strong, positive, quick-acting mechanism.

It is made of absolutely the best materials obtainable, the highest grade of leather and corduroy, with the finest nickel-plated finish.

The price is right, enabling the dealer to meet competition.

REPORT

OF STATE INSPECTOR.

GOV. WILSON BLAMES DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION FOR CONDITION OF TREASURY.

Gov. Willson Wednesday night gave out a statement of the condition of the State's finances, in which the responsibility for the scarcity of money just at this time is placed upon the last Democratic administration. His statement is as follows:

The report of the State Inspector and Examiner, Mr. M. H. Thatcher, for the month of March, upon the monthly examination and comparison required by law of the books and accounts of the treasurer and auditor of public accounts, shows that while the Republican administration has not made any appropriation, nor had any expense except that provided for under the laws enacted during the Democratic administration, there was a sinking fund of March 31st, only $125,808.67; that the deficit in the school fund was $56,167.11; that the balance of the general expense fund one the 31st day of March, 1908, is $13,991.25.

That the balance to the credit of the sinking fund at the close of business on March 31, 1908 of $125,808 67

Less the deficit in the school fund of 56,167 11

Left the balance to the credit of the sinking fund of $ 69,641 56
Add to this the balance in the general expense fund 13,991 25

Left the total balance in the treasurer on the same date $ 83,632 81
The balance on deposit in the various banks was 149,837 03
Against which unpaid checks were out amounting to 66,204 22

Leaving the available balance, less the outstanding checks $83,632 81
And that there were outstanding warrants at the close of business on March 31, 1908, of $34,830.07.

It is in this condition that the treasury was left by the Democratic administration, and it was in this condition that the Democratic General Assembly made new appropriations of about $1,400,000 without any provision or expectation of money to pay them with.

NEW POSITION

Polk Laffoon Appointed Secretary and Treasurer of Street Railway Company.

Mr. Polk Laffoon, who, for the past eight years has been making Frankfort his home, where he was employed as a clerk in the State Treasurer's and Auditor's offices, left Tuesday for Covington, where he will take up his new home, having been recently appointed to the position of Secretary and Treasurer of The Covington and Cincinnati Street Railway, with headquarters in Covington.

He comes of a prominent Kentucky family, being a son of the late Polk Laffoon, for two terms Congressman from the Second district, and is a cousin of Ruby Laffoon, late Democratic candidate for State Treasurer. It is announced that the Department in Washington has arranged an exhibition of military maneuvers to be witnessed in this country at place at Fort Benjamin Harrison September.

Now that Congress has practically assured an appropriation of $1,000,000 for the camps of instruction, arrangements are being pushed for the mobilization of regulars and militiamen at the Indianapolis post. It is proposed to make the camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison an object lesson of what can be accomplished by these annual maneuvers.

One State—Ohio—will send 4,900 militiamen to the Indianapolis camp, and other States are forwarding reports that are equally encouraging. Gen. Robert Shaw Oliver, Assistant Secretary of War, will visit the camp and review the troops. The camp will be in command of Gen. W. H. Carter, the present commander of the Department of the Lakes. The report that Gen. Fred Grant will be in charge of the camp proves to be an error. While Gen. Grant is booked to succeed Gen. Carter, as commander of the Department of the Lakes he will not be transferred to that department until immediately after the maneuvers are held. Gen. Grant will be in charge of the camp of instruction at Pine Plains, N. Y., and when that is over he will relieve Gen. Carter as the commanding General of the Department of the Lakes.

States to Send Troops.
It is announced at the War Department that the various States that are to send troops to Indianapolis will be represented as follows:

Indiana—Three regiments of infantry, comprising 2,000 men; one company of hospital corps and one company of signal corps.

West Virginia—Two regiments of infantry, 1,000 men.

Ohio—Eight regiments of infantry, two troops of cavalry, two companies of signal corps, two companies of hospital corps, one battalion of engineers; total, 4,800 men.

Kentucky—One regiment of infantry, 800 men.

Illinois—Three regiments of infantry, 2,300 men.

Michigan—Three regiments of infantry, 1,600 men; signal corps and hospital corps.

Wisconsin—One regiment of infantry, 700 men.

The regulars that will participate in the joint camp will be the twelve companies of the Tenth Infantry, stationed at Fort Benjamin Harrison; two battalions of infantry, to be chosen from other posts; a squadron of cavalry from Ft. Sheridan and a battalion of field artillery from Ft. Sheridan.

The announcement that Michigan will be well represented at the joint camp is in the nature of an agreeable surprise. For some time the fear has been expressed that Michigan would not "play ball." The Michigan militiamen who attended the last camp at Ft. Benjamin Harrison did a tall job of "knocking" when they returned home. They assured the Michigan State authorities that Ft. Benjamin Harrison is one of the worst places in the world for a camp; that the reservation is subject to overflow, and that the soldiers were obliged to wade around in water and mud. On a basis of these and other allegations Adj. Gen. McGurkin, of Michigan, undertook to have the camp of instruction changed from Ft. Benjamin Harrison to Ludington, Mich., but after that the War Department found that Ft. Benjamin Harrison is superior in every way to the proposed site at Ludington.

AFFIRMED

The Life Sentence Of Jas. Kennedy For Killing Milton Estes.

The Court of Appeals, Judge Hobson writing, affirmed the life sentence of James Kennedy for shooting and killing Milton Estes in Lincoln county. Kennedy belongs to a noted family of fighters, as he now has one brother in the penitentiary, another whose sentence of twenty-one years has been affirmed and another brother who has a petition now pending before the Court of Appeals for a rehearing, as he has been sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years.

APPEAL

CASE TO SUPREME COURT.

KENTUCKY COAL LANDS SUIT
WHICH INVOLVES PROPERTY WORTH THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS.

The bill of errors of the Court of Appeals in the case of the Eastern Kentucky Coal lands Corporation against the Commonwealth of Kentucky has been almost completed in the preparation of the company to take the case to the Supreme Court of the United States. The dissenting opinion of Judge Hobson is taken by the company as the law in the case and will be the main point in the argument of the company's attorneys before the Supreme Court. Gen. William J. Hendrick has been in this city for several days preparing the writ of errors, and left last night after advancing the case as far as he can at this time. It is likely that the case will be appealed in a few weeks, and the company hopes to get a decision from the Supreme Court in less than a year.

This is one of the most important cases in Kentucky litigation today, for the decision of the Supreme Court will mean thousands of dollars to the company or the Commonwealth. Gen. Hendrick said that when the case was finally decided millions of dollars would be brought into the eastern part of the State for the development of the rich coal and timber properties, and in less than ten years that entire mountainous section of the State will become one vast network of railroads.

The three points made by Judge Hobson in his dissenting opinion are: First, that the law on which the majority of the members of the court based their opinion is an ex post facto law. Two, that it is double taxation. Three, that it denies the equal protection of the law guaranteed under the Federal Constitution.

ILLEGAL

ARE "BOARD CONTRACTS."

SO RULES INSURANCE COMMISSIONER BELL ON THIS FORM OF SPECIAL LIFE POLICY.

State Insurance Commissioner Chas. W. Bell in a written opinion issued Thursday holds that "board contracts" or special policies for life insurance are against public policy and contrary to the statute which prohibits any discrimination in premium rates. He has heard arguments on both sides of the question for several weeks and says the writing of such contracts must cease.

Board contracts provide that certain persons in various localities shall be grouped into "local boards" and given a rebate on their insurance premiums in the form of dividends, on the ground that it is payment to them for their influence and efforts in securing other business for the company. This has been a favorite plan with new insurance companies to secure a big lot of new business as rapidly as possible. His opinion in the matter is as follows:

Commissioner Bell's Ruling.

Insurance Department of Kentucky, Frankfort, April 16, 1908.
To the Life Insurance Companies authorized to do business in Kentucky:

Shortly after assuming the duties of the office of Insurance Commissioner my attention was called to the alleged fact that certain insurance companies writing what are termed "Board Contracts," or "Special Contracts," or sometimes, "Advisory Board Contracts." This, it was alleged, was in violation of the law and contrary to the ruling of former Insurance Commissioner Henry R. Prewitt, in which he said:

"In my opinion the issue of these contracts is a clear violation of the anti-rebate laws of this State."

Those so-called Special Contracts, while varying very greatly, are, in substance, as follows: The scheme consists of inducing a certain number of people to insure by means of making themselves members of a board or club of persons who have done likewise, and to whom, in the aggregate, is to be given some special advantage in proportion to the business done, insurance in force, or premiums collected by the company everywhere or within a specified territory. Once filled, the board is not to be enlarged, nor vacancy caused by death or lapse to be filled, so that great hopes of fabulous gains, because of diminished numbers, are held out. These contracts are of such a questionable nature that many of the States have legislated against them, and in still many other States, where there is no special legislation referring to them, the Insurance Commissioners have ruled against them and have refused to admit companies that issue them.

Passing by for the present the ethical objections to such contracts, I find upon examination of the Insurance laws of Kentucky, that they are plainly forbidden by Section 656, Kentucky Statutes, which is as follows:

"No life insurance company doing business in Kentucky shall make or permit any distinction or discrimination in favor of individuals between insureds of the same class and equal expectation of life in the amount or payment of premiums or rates charged for the policies of life or endowment insurance, or in the dividends or other benefit payable thereon, or in any other of the terms and conditions of the contracts it makes; nor shall any such company or any agent thereof make any contract of insurance or agreement as to such contract other than is plainly expressed in the policy issued thereon; nor shall any such company or agent pay or allow, or offer to pay or allow, as inducement to insurance, any rebate of premium payable on the policy, or any special favor or advantage in the dividends or other benefit to accrue thereon, or any valuable consideration or inducement whatever not specified in the policy contract of insurance. Every company, or officer, or agent thereof, who shall violate the provisions of this section, shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, to be recovered by action in the name of the Commonwealth, and, on collection, paid into the State Treasury."

Feeling that the decision of this department must necessarily be of far-reaching and momentous consequence, before arriving at the conclusion stated above, I gave both sides of this controversy ample time to be heard both in person and by attorney, and I have exercised the greatest diligence in the study of the subject and the utmost precaution in the preparation of this decision.

The learned counsel for one of the companies issuing this kind of policy, argued most adroitly that the company which he represented does not violate Section 656, because it offers this contract to everybody; that where each one has an opportunity to purchase this kind of insurance, he can not claim that he is discriminated against, if he refuses to enter into this contract. But I take the broad ground that it is not a question as to what the agents of the company may offer but the question hinges upon what the company itself actually issues. That the Special Contract is a discrimination I have not the least doubt. The section of the Kentucky Statutes quoted above says, "that no company shall make or permit any distinction or discrimination in favor of individuals between insureds of the same class and equal expectation of life," etc.

No one will deny that these Special Contracts do hold out hopes of great gain and that these gains can be gotten only from those persons holding policies with the company, who have not procured this Special Contract. I will go further and say that even the holders of these Special Contracts, although of the same class and equal expectation of life, if they chance to be in different series, can not be sure of procuring the same gains even though they render equal service, for it is a physical impossibility for a company to procure and hold on its books the same amount of insurance from which these gains must accrue.

If, as stated above, a company by simple offering the Special Contract to all applicants for insurance, can claim to be exempt from the provisions of the law as set forth in Section 656, then arguing by analogy, the company could issue any sort of a discriminating policy and evade the law merely offering it to prospective purchasers. In short, it would appear that the legality of the contract would depend upon its being offered alike to all persons applying for insurance, rather than upon the terms and provisions contained therein. That the law does not contemplate such a construction is not for a moment to be doubted. It was further claimed by the attorney for the company referred to above, that in as much as the holder of this Special Contract might be called upon to give advice or information to the company, that he would be entitled to special remuneration for same, but I fail to see the justice of crediting a policyholder of Kentucky for his alleged services to the company, with money secured from a policyholder in Texas, or some other State, and vice versa. Therefore, in conclusion I desire to state that I believe any and all forms of Special Contracts are illegal and against public policy, and I shall use all the powers of this department to prevent the further violation of the law as I see it.

Section 744 is as follows:
"There is hereby established, in connection with the Auditor of Public Accounts, a department to be designated as the Insurance Department, which shall be charged with the enforcement of the laws hereafter passed or which may hereafter be passed relating to insurance."

Section 754 reads as follows:
"When in his opinion an officer or an agent of an insurance company has violated any law in this State relative to such company, the Commissioner shall herewith report the facts with the testimony reduced to writing and signed, by witnesses upon which his opinion is founded, to the Attorney General, whose duty it shall be, to, at once, if he deem it proper, prosecute such company, officer or agent therefor."

Section 753 defines the powers of the Commissioner as to revocation of certificates of authority of both foreign and domestic companies.

The law as quoted above leaves no doubt in my mind as to the duties and powers of the Insurance Commissioner. If the Commissioner transcends his authority, there is always quick and easy remedy at law, but if he, for any reason, fails or refuses to do his whole duty, paradoxical as the proposition may seem, there is practically no remedy and the policyholder is without protection. Therefore, I shall strive, at all times, to so conduct this department that the best interests of the policyholders will be subserved.

C. W. BELL,
Insurance Commissioner.

CIRCUS

COMING TO FRANKFORT.

JOHN ROBINSON'S TEN COMBINED SHOWS TO EXHIBIT HERE WEDNESDAY, MAY 6.

The modern circus is about it nothing debasing, and it has ways held physical and mental esteem; its heroes are those who have done something noble. Especially is courage, and display of leadership on the battlefield, held in the highest esteem. The military hero stands highest on popular roll of fame. Physical prowess delights the average man; and in the athletic exhibitions of the circus, the racing, the display of consummate horsemanship, and so on, which are the leading features of a circus exhibition, nearly every one, young and old, takes pleasure—and a pleasure that is most certainly innocent.

Within the past half-century or so, the circus in America has moved to a much higher plane than it ever before occupied. The exhibitions are unobjectionable on the score of morality; the comfort and convenience of spectators are carefully conserved; there is no more fear of meeting insult or disagreeable incidents than there is in attending a lecture or a theatrical performance.

As a result, the old-time prejudice against a circus as a proper amusement for all classes, ages and sexes is rapidly disappearing. The love of diversion and harmless amusement for all classes, ages and sexes is inborn in man. To forbid them is to turn counter to human nature. The Creator would not have implanted this desire for amusement in mankind were it detrimental.
